VALERO RENEWABLE FUELS
Animal Protein Acknowledgement

FDA regulations specifically address potential BSE (Mad Cow Disease) contamination from transporting animal protein products. The regulations require feed distributors to adopt procedures to avoid commingling or cross-contamination. Separate trucks must be used or carriers must employ clean-out procedures for trucks that have been used to transport mammalian protein products. As a result, Valero Marketing and Supply Company requires trucks hauling corn and/or distillers grains to meet the following conditions:

1. NO animal protein products or other hazardous materials may have been transported in the trucks or appropriate clean-out procedures must have been followed. All trucks must be physically cleaned or flushed out if they have been used to transport mammalian protein products.
2. All trucks arriving to pick up Valero Marketing and Supply Company products must be clean and ready to load. There are no facilities on the premises for clean-out procedures.

I hereby certify that we have met the conditions outlined above, and we agree to defend, indemnify, and hold Valero Marketing and Supply Company and its affiliates, and their respective directors, officers and employees, harmless from all actions, causes of action, claims, awards, judgments, fines, penalties, costs and fees, including attorney fees, arising out of or connected with the violation of any of the above conditions or the contamination of Valero Marketing and Supply Company products due to the hauling of animal protein or other hazardous materials.

I authorize and acknowledge the loading of product into my vehicle from VALERO RENEWABLE FUELS.
By signing this you agree to the Animal Protein Acknowledgement above and the terms listed on the front.
